

2017 Annual Conference - Healthy, Resilient, and Ready to Learn

Dec. 4, 2017

8:15 am – 5:00 pm

Location

Graylyn Conference Center
1900 Reynolda Road
Winston-Salem, NC 27106

Who Should Participate

Physicians, NPs, PAs, Nurses, Social Workers, Psychologists, Licensed Professional Counselors, Marriage and Family Therapists, Nutritionists, Health Educators, School Personnel and others who want to learn more about school based/linked health centers.

Program Overview

School-based health centers are the leading force within the health care safety net for ensuring that children and adolescents have access to patient-centered, comprehensive health care services that are affordable and accessible. Such services and relationships ensure the health and well-being of our young people, and ultimately, their school success. School-based health centers are uniquely positioned to address a variety of challenges faced by the students served - challenges that reduce their ability to be healthy, resilient and ready to learn. This program is designed to overview the role of school-based health services in assuring that all students have access to the care that they need to maintain good health, to develop resiliency skills for mental and physical well-being and to be prepared to participate

Objectives

Upon completion of this knowledge-based program, participants should be able to:

- Describe a range of challenges impacting the health and well-being of children and adolescents.
- Define resiliency and its impact on the lifelong well-being of students.
- Discuss the impact of access to medical, dental, and behavioral healthcare among special youth populations.
- Identify strategies and best practices for bringing needed healthcare services to youth.
- Recognize broader ways to improve the health and resiliency of schools, youth and communities.
